

February 3, 2006

Kick.ie: A new community driven Irish news site

Filed in Technology on February 3, 2006

Atweb Publishing Ltd. is pleased to announce the launch of a new Irish news site - www.kick.ie. Unlike traditional news publishing websites, kick.ie has no central editing process - instead it relies on the many eyes of its readership to sort the good articles from the bad.

The kick.ie community provide votes of approval (kicks) for stories that they would like to see published. Stories can be submitted by anyone, the best of which will be published to the homepage.

The concept is similar to a number of popular worldwide sites including digg.com and shoutwire.com which have seen phenomenal growth in the last 12 months. Kick.ie is unique in that it is tailored specifically for Irish news and an Irish readership.

The kick.ie community also receive a 50% share in advertisement revenue for the stories that they submit to the site.

For further information please contact Gavin Joyce, Director of Atweb Publishing Ltd, 30 Temple Court, Hogan Place, Dublin 2. - Tel: 01-66 222 23 - email: gavin@kick.ie - website: www.kick.ie