

October 27, 2009

Good Mood Food launches its online lunch delivery services and website

Filed in ConsumerWebsite Launch on October 27, 2009

Good Mood Food has launched its online lunch delivery website goodmoodfood.ie. This online service offers competitively priced sandwiches, wraps and salads to office workers who can order their lunch online to be delivered directly to their desks. Corporate breakfast and lunch platters are also on offer to companies. All their food is made to order so is extremely fresh.

Good Mood Food is based in Stillorgan and will be offering their Individual lunch and corporate lunch services to companies in the Sandyford Industrial Estate and surrounding Business Parks.

Good Mood Food has been started with an eye on offering quality food at really affordable prices. Manager James McCormack stated that "in recent years the price of buying your lunch out has become extremely expensive. We really want to offer people the option of buying a freshly made sandwich, a staple of our diet, at an affordable price."